Kilimanjaro Climbs

“Adventure International is one of our ideal Partners for Responsible Travel meeting our guidelines for proper porter treatment consistently in all areas. Their commitment to fair and ethical practices, as well as provision of education to their crew, is exemplary.”

- Kilimanjaro Porters Assistance Project May 2009

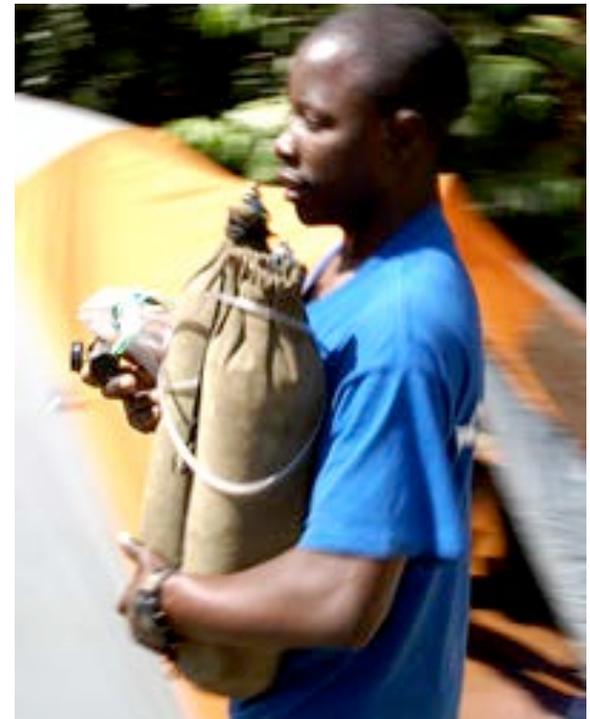

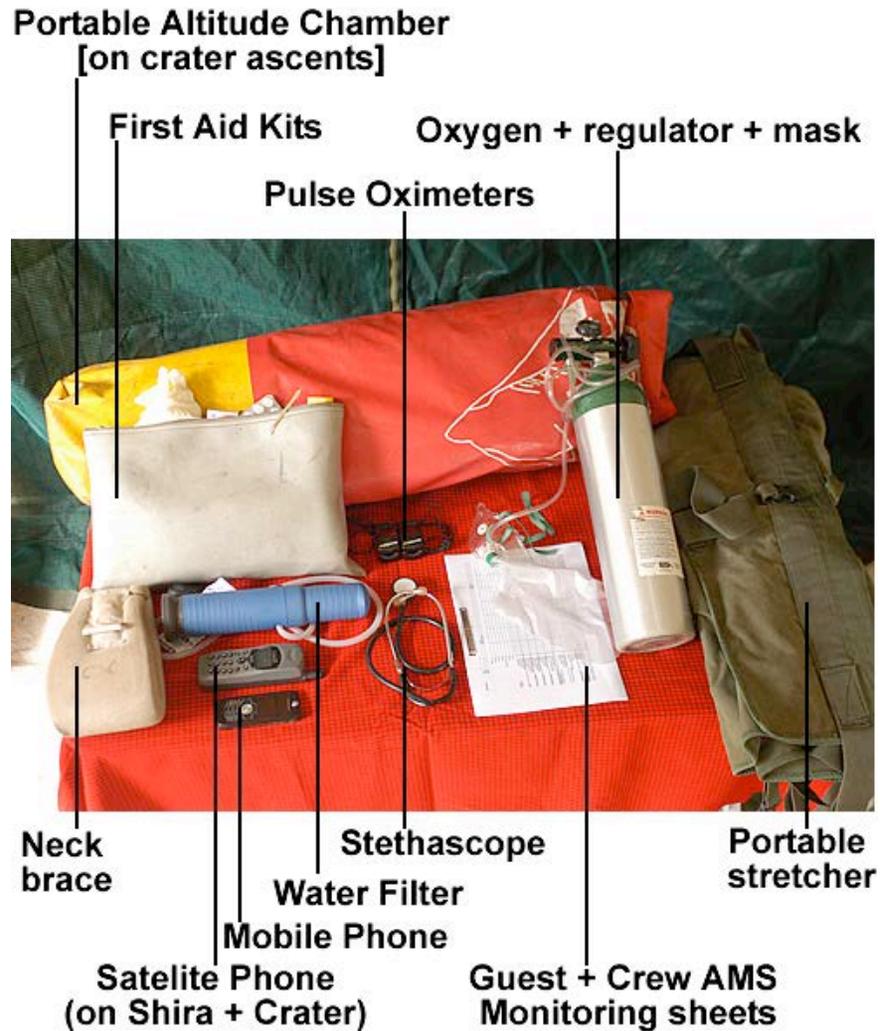

Adventure International runs ethical, professionally led climbs. Our business partners sell our climbs to their clients on the basis of:

1. Ethics: Adventure International works hand in hand with our crews, not in spite of them. We do not overload our porters and our payment policy is to ensure that our porters and crews are among the highest paid in the industry. Our ethical approach is the number one reason that our prices are higher than the average ‘budget’ trip.
2. Professional Guides and crews: We operate bi annual training programs for guides, assistant guides, trainees and camp crews. Our in house training also incorporates independent professionals from the Red Cross for CPR training and advanced first aid topics. Adventure International also has “Constant Monitoring” practices that include pulse oximetry and scorecard monitoring of key aspects of altitude sickness. Is Kilimanjaro a dangerous hike? Yes. Blissful ignorance tends to surround most groups that ascend the mountain and most people are fine. It is the scenarios when unavoidable instances of high altitude sickness which poses the most threat where appropriate treatment are essential. Most instances of death on Kilimanjaro have been due to ignorance and bad decision-making.
3. Clients experience: with sound ethical practices and excellent training Adventure International has a well motivated professional team that not only guide clients safely on the mountain but also educate and inform clients about the environment they walk through. Endemic flora and the relationship of man and beast have all shaped Kilimanjaro’s ecology and the geology is as fascinating as anywhere on Earth.

Adventure International highly recommends the The Machame Route be used for three main reasons:

1. The Machame route has a higher success rate as the final ascent is via Stella Point which is much closer to Uhuru peak.
2. The alternative Marangu route is very crowded and porters have a history of being left out in the cold at night time when room needs to be taken for over bookings from companies.
3. The Machame route is more scenic – if people are going to make a once in a lifetime commitment to climb the highest freestanding mountain in the world, they might as well enjoy as much as the mountain as possible. The Marangu route ascends and descends via the same route and so people miss the most stunning parts of Kilimanjaro.

Detailed Itinerary

Day 1 / ARUSHA

Upon arrival into Kilimanjaro International Airport you are met and transferred to your lodge in Arusha. You are given a full briefing and equipment check with the Climbs Manager and your guide.

Overnight Ilboru Safari Lodge (Dinner)

Day 2 / KILIMANJARO / MACHAME

After breakfast you depart by vehicle to Kilimanjaro. At the gate your crew finalize packing and after finishing with formalities you start off from Machame gate. Today's hiking is through verdant afro-montane forest to Machame camp and on route you have a picnic lunch. Look out for pretty endemic flora and a gradation of forest zones!

Overnight Machame Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 3 / KILIMANJARO / SHIRA

From Machame camp you hike to Shira Camp. The first section is relatively steep and altitude is gained rapidly. A picnic lunch is taken on trail today. The zone you pass through today is known as the heath zone where attractive Helichrysum and lobelia plants become apparent. Various geologic features can be seen today from lava tubes to glacial valleys.

Overnight Shira Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 4 / KILIMANJARO / BARRANCO

Today is a walk high sleep low day. You ascend into alpine desert and for those that are feeling strong you can even head up to Lava Tower before descending to Barranco camp. Lunch is taken as a picnic lunch on route. This is a long day but note that the next time you head to this altitude is in two days time - great acclimatisation day!

Overnight Barranco Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 5 / KILIMANJARO / KARANGA

You now have a relatively short day to Karanga Camp, after conquering the Barranco Wall. The selection of Karanga Camp is strategic – significant time at altitude is essential for safe acclimatization and in the late afternoon you arrive in camp. Sunsets here are particularly spectacular with views of the southern glacial valleys and ice fields towering 1000 meters (over 3000 feet) above you.

Overnight Karanga Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 6 / KILIMANJARO / BARAFU

Today is another half day ascending to Barafu camp. Once again lunch is taken in camp allowing plenty of time to relax before the summit bid. Desolate alpine desert and at times strong winds rip over this camp and yet in the evening splendid views of Mawenzi peak are the norm. A relatively early dinner is taken before heading to rest for the evening.

Overnight Barafu Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 7 / KILIMANJARO / SUMMIT / MWEKA

Most people depart just before midnight for the final summit bid. Patience and persistence is the name of game to reach the summit and by dawn as the first rays of light start to appear, most arrive near the rim. Ascending via Stella Point affords a relatively short final section to Uhuru peak, the Roof of Africa! What goes up must come down and your goal today is to reach Mweka camp before dusk.

Overnight Mweka Camp (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 8 / KILIMANJARO / OUT / ARUSHA

After breakfast you descend once again through montane forest and around mid day after saying farewell to your crew, you are picked up and transferred back to your hotel for a well-deserved shower and celebratory dinner!

Overnight Ilboru Safari Lodge (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Day 9 / DEPART

Today you are transferred to Kilimanjaro International Airport for departures.

than banks. Local currency is Tanzanian Shillings (TSH), however most places accept USD. Better hotels, lodges, and camps will accept credit cards, however it is advised to withdraw cash when visiting remote areas and villages.

Government

Tanzania – is a unitary republic with a President as head of state

Religion

Tanzania – one third of the population is Muslim, another one third are Christians, and the remaining one third follow different religions

Ethnic Groups

Tanzania - about 120 peoples have been categorized into 5 ethnic groups distinguishable by their physical characteristics and languages. Approximately 95% of Tanzanians may be roughly classified as Bantu. Tribes range in membership from only a few thousand to the Sukuma tribe, which numbers more than 2 million. Other major tribes include the Nyamwezi, Makonde, Haya, and Chagga. The Luo, east of Lake Victoria, are the only people of Nilotic origin; the Maasai of the northern highlands are Nilo-Hamites. A very small number of Bushmen-like people are scattered throughout northern Tanzania, where small tribes of Cushitic origin also live. The inhabitants of Zanzibar and Pemba are chiefly descendants of mainland Africans or are of mixed African and Arab extraction. The remaining 1% of the populace is made up of non-Africans, including Arabs, Asians, and Europeans.

Languages

Tanzania – official language is Swahili with English being the de facto language used in the government and global economy. Most tribal languages are spoken first, then Swahili, and English in education.

Economy

Tanzania's economy is mostly agriculture based. Tanzania has vast amounts of natural resources including gold, diamonds, coal, iron ore, uranium, nickel, chrome, tin, platinum, coltan, niobium and other minerals. It is the third-largest producer of gold in Africa after South Africa and Ghana. Tanzania is also known for the Tanzanite gemstones. Tanzania has dozens of beautiful national parks that generate income with a large tourism sector that plays a vital part in the economy. Prolonged drought during the early years of the 21st century has severely reduced electricity generation capacity (some 60 percent of Tanzania's electricity supplies are generated by hydro-electric methods) During 2006, Tanzania suffered a crippling series of "load-shedding" or power rationing episodes caused by a shortfall of generated power, largely because of insufficient hydro-electric generation. Plans to increase gas- and coal-fueled generation capacity are likely to take some years to implement, and growth is forecast to be increased to seven per cent per year.

Climate

Tanzania has a tropical climate. The hottest period extends between November and February while the coldest period occurs between May and August. The climate is cool in high mountainous regions. Tanzania has two major rainfall regions. One is unimodal (December - April) and the other is bimodal (October -December and March - May). The former is experienced in southern, south-west, central and western parts of the country, and the latter is found to the north and northern coast. In the bimodal regime the March - May rains are referred to as the long rains or Masika, whereas the October - December rains are generally known as short rains or Vuli.
